MARRIAGES

BUCKWALD-COHEN

The marriage of Rose, daughter of Max Cohen, Esplanade Avenue, to Al. Buckwald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buckwald, St. Lawrence Boulevard, took place at the home of Rabbi H. Rotblatt, on April 4, at three o'clock, Rabbi H. Rotblatt officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a pastel-blue dress, trimmed with beads, and matching veiled hat, and carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses. Miss Ann Cohen, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a grey afternoon dress, and a headdress of red roses. Abe Hahamovitch, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. "Because" was sung by Mrs. J. Carels. Mrs. John Becker, aunt of the bride, wore a black afternoon dress, trimmed with lace. Mrs. Buckwald, mother of the groom, wore a grey print two-piece afternoon dress, and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Abe Hahamovitch, sister of the groom, wore a black print afternoon dress, and a corsage of American Beauty roses. A reception was held. The bride and groom left for New York, the former travelling in a black suit, grey shortie coat, black and white straw hat, trimmed with ribbon, white gloves, and black accessories. They are living in Montreal.

GROSS-KATZ

The marriage of Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myer Katz, of Boston, Mass., to Bernard M. Gross, formerly of Montreal, now of Los Angeles, Calif., son of Moe H. Gross, of Pasadena, Calif., and the late Mrs. Rose Gross, took place at the home of the groom's father, on Thursday, May 27, Rabbi Max Vorspan officiating. The groom is the grandson of Mrs. P. Adelstein, Chomedy Street, Montreal. Following the ceremony, the immediate family had dinner at Pierre's. The bride and groom left for a motor trip through Northern California. They will live in Los Angeles.

ISRAEL OFFICIAL SEEKS HELP IN U.S.

Mrs. Golda Myerson, only woman on the thirty-seven member council of the new state of Israel, arrived in New York from Haifa by way of Paris on a Trans World Airline plane. Mrs. Myerson, who represents the Jewish Agency in the administration of Jerusalem, was wearing a navy-blue crushed linen summer suit with a light blue and white striped silk blouse. She said she reached Paris by chartered plane from Haifa and then boarded the T.W.A. ship. Mrs. Myerson explained that the spelling of her name in Palestine is Golda which she preferred to the American version of Goldie.

Her visit to the United States, Mrs. Myerson said, will last less than a month. Its purpose is two-fold, she said: to enlist the support of both Jews and the American government for a Jewish victory in the war, and to get financial aid for the permanent economic development of Palestine.

ISRAEL GETS $20,000 BY WILL OF SUICIDE

Circuit Judge George E. Holt ordered, at Miami, Florida, the release of $20,000, remaining assets of the estate of Max Kovensky, to the new state of Israel.

The order was signed under a provision of Mr. Kovensky's will bequeathing the residue "to the Jewish homeland legally recognized by the United Nations as the permanent Jewish homeland, giving refuge to all Jews, all over the world."

Attorneys for the trustees of the estate said they expected Israel would be recognized by the United Nations. The money was turned over to Shephard Brodad, regional vice-president of the Zionist Organization of America for Florida.

Mr. Kovensky committed suicide in 1945 when he learned his sister had been killed by the Germans during the invasion of Poland. The will was dated November 3, 1944.

Advise Camp Services To Suit Creed

When children go to summer camps open to all faiths they should be encouraged in membership of their own religious groups, in the opinion of leading authorities of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths, says Catherine Mackenzie, in the New York Times.

On the ground that camp authorities assume responsibility for the "total young person," and that this includes spiritual welfare, it is held that "the religious customs and needs of the campers should be respected and observed."

According to these interfaith views, provision for religious services and other observances should be made at camp; parents should be told what these plans are, and when such arrangements are impossible, "parents should be notified when their children register."

The pamphlet to be distributed by the Commission on Religious Organizations, American Brotherhood, National Conference of Christians and Jews.

"Suggestions for Camp Directors" is the title. The material has been adapted from a leaflet first prepared by the Girl Scouts for use in its own camps.

Information on religious customs and needs of the three major faiths is given briefly in twelve pages. Arrangements for children's attendance at religious services are viewed as a camp responsibility.

Respect for religious customs is made specific in reminders of dietary observances of respective faiths and of the holy days falling within the camp season. The text tells in what circumstances mass may be celebrated on the camp grounds, and the preparations required; how Jewish worship may be conducted when children cannot go to regular service at a synagogue; what provision should be made for worship of Protestant denominations.

This pamphlet has been issued in response to repeated inquiries concerning "joint services" in which campers of all faiths may share. It is explained that many well-intentioned people suggest such joint worship, unaware that it is forbidden or frowned on by many religious groups, that embarrassment results to both sides.

The Commission points out that this pamphlet accords with the basic belief in the individual's freedom to worship as he wishes, held by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, that the Conference "does not attempt to achieve its goal of moderation and elimination of inter-religious prejudices by weakening the distinctive loyalties and beliefs of those of any faith."

To Receive Degrees At Yeshiva

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., former U.S. Secretary of the Treasury and general chairman of the nation-wide $250,000,000 United Jewish Appeal campaign and Professor Selman Waksman, microbiologist of Rutgers University and discoverer of streptomycin, will receive honorary degrees at Yeshiva University's annual commencement exercises in New York, on Thursday, June 24, Dr. Samuel Belkin, president, announced. Mr. Morgenthau will receive the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters for his contributions to the general welfare of the democratic way of life and particularly for his service to alleviate the suffering of Jews.

Prof. Waksman will receive the degree of Doctor of Laws for his scientific contributions to the general welfare of society.

Last year's recipients of degrees were Bernard M. Baruch; and Earl G. Harrison, Dean, University of Pennsylvania Law School. Others [illegible] Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, Jan Masaryk, Herbert H. Lehman, Prof. Albert Einstein, and the late Benjamin N. Cardozo.

Yeshiva University, at Amsterdam Avenue from 185th to 187th Streets, New York, is the first university under Jewish auspices in the Americas. The University comprises Rabbi Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary, Yeshiva College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Teachers Institute, Bernard Revel Graduate School, Harry Fischel School for Higher Jewish Studies, Talmudical Academy High School, Institute of Mathematics, and the School of Education and Community Administration, which will open in the fall.

Recognition of the high academic standards practiced by Yeshiva University was accorded America's only university under Jewish auspices with receipt of formal notification that Yeshiva's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has been accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The Middle States Association is the accrediting agency for all colleges, junior colleges, teachers colleges and secondary schools in the Middle States area. In submitting a thorough report on Yeshiva University, the Association's Evaluating Committee said. "It is the opinion of the members of the Committee that Yeshiva College is doing a very satisfactory job. The proof of the worth of a program is the product. The students of Yeshiva are alert, able, purposeful. The graduates are successful both in university and professional life. The Committee unanimously recommends that Yeshiva College be accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools."

The College offers courses leading to the degree of B.A. and B.S., and is the only one in the world under Jewish auspices. Since its establishment, the college has graduated more than 600 students among whom are doctors, lawyers, accountants, businessmen, journalists, rabbis, and others.

Additional sources of information are indicated and a reading list is given.

Bnai Brith Hears Mrs. Weizmann

Mrs. Chaim Weizmann, making her first appearance as First Lady of the Republic of Israel, expressed "profound sorrow" at Great Britain's attitude in the Palestine crisis. She added, however, that she was "sure that the moment is not far off that Great Britain will join hands with the western civilization and will abandon the people who are fighting against us."

Mrs. Weizmann, whose husband is the first President of the Provisional Government of Israel, spoke before 2,000 delegates at a luncheon of District Grand Lodge, No. 1, Bnai Brith, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, in New York. The luncheon marked the formal opening of the district's ninety-sixth annual convention, and included Mayor O'Dwyer as a speaker. The delegates represented membership of more than 100,000 in New York State, New England and Eastern Canada.

Mrs. Weizmann's appearance on the dais, flanked by the American, Israeli and Canadian flags, was the signal for an ovation that lasted several minutes. Terming the new state "a little baby, already with great possibilities," she asserted that "the world knew that Jews can supply statesmen and scientists, great financial resources, physicians and artists, but they never knew that Jews have learned to fight as well."

She expressed her happiness that the United States Government had aided the partition plan and accorded recognition to the new state, and added:

"I am, however, deeply grieved and saddened with the country which has been the country of our adoption for the last forty-four years, which has refused to recognize the legitimacy of a new-born child. We owe so much to Great Britain and, personally, my husband and myself, we have been a part so many years of that country and owe so much to the noble land of promise of those honored gentlemen like Disraeli and the others who conceived a long time ago the idea of helping to defend the freedom of Greece."

Referring to the war in Palestine, she said: "It is a struggle of feudalism against democracy, of obscurity against civilization; freedom against imperial ambition."

Despite the fighting, Mrs. Weizmann asserted, "business goes on as usual, side by side with destruction, and the Egyptian bombers do not and cannot stop or prevent the people from conducting their lives in Palestine."

She asserted that in Palestine an effort was being made "to build on such a foundation that it would create a real democracy," and "to avoid all those elements which always bring class strife and quarrels — too much wealth and too much poverty."

Frank Goldman, international president of Bnai Brith, received a scroll in honor of his humanitarian endeavors. He assailed Great Britain as an aggressor nation and urged the lifting of the arms embargo.

A bronze plaque in honor of Henry Monsky, international president of the organization who died [illegible] Henry Monsky Memorial Field, an athletic field, which will be formally opened in July at the Veterans Hospital at Northport, L.I.

WHAT EINSTEIN BELIEVES

Albert Einstein told members of the American Unitarian Association in Boston, Mass., in a message read at the 132nd Anniversary Week meeting that "science without religion is lame, and religion blind without science."

The statement of Dr. Einstein's own credo was read to the 800 delegates by the Rev. Jacob Trapp, minister of the Unitarian Church, Summit, N.J. The question whether there was any insuperable contradiction between science and religion, Dr. Einstein said, was complicated, "because while most people agree on what they mean by science, they are likely to differ on the meaning of religion."

Present-day civilization was "motivated largely by the competitive spirit, in ruthless striving at the expense of brotherhood," the scientist wrote.

Elaine Lila Griesdorf, aged five years, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Griesdorf, 107 Grace Street, Toronto; granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Griesdorf, Grace Street; and of Mrs. I. Sandler, 276 Augusta Avenue.

Jews Leave Austria Steadily

Recognition of the State of Israel promises to solve the Jewish displaced persons problem in Austria by the end of the present summer, greatly to the relief of the Austrian Government and the United States Army. There are still 20,000 Jews in camps in the American zone of Vienna and Austria, but they are leaving steadily.

Since, in American eyes, Austria is not an occupied but a free country, and since the Austrian Government is not subject to the United States Army in Vienna cannot act with the same freedom as in Germany. Its spokesmen content themselves with saying that it will not hinder the departure of Jews for Palestine. The Jewish agencies and the Haganah, who superintend the training of young men and women of military age and their transshipment, have to work more or less

A substantial percentage of the Jews of military age in Vienna has volunteered for service in Israel. They are collected in smaller camps and trained by the Haganah while the United States Army apparently turns a blind eye to this procedure. When trained they are shipped in groups of thirty to fifty to ports in Italy or France.

Recently, about 1,000 Jews left [illegible] of the summer only the sick, the very young and the ill will remain in Austria along with a minority of more serviceable age who prefer either to take their chances in Austria or wait for a chance to emigrate elsewhere than to Israel.

30% MORE HEAT FROM COAL

...and it's AUTOMATIC heat, with an IRON FIREMAN STOKER

Can you afford to fire by hand? You can't . . . if you want your money's worth. But if you want all the heating comfort you're paying for—30% more than hand-firing will give you—switch NOW to an Iron Fireman automatic stoker. This efficient unit burns coal scientifically, under constant automatic control. Heat losses due to hand-firing are eliminated, and the heat saved is turned into extra family comfort. And here's another important advantage: an Iron Fireman stoker changes furnace drudgery into a few minutes' easy work once each day. There are no drafts to adjust—no fires to bank. The Iron Fireman does it all.

EMER-FINDLAY

The marriage of Shirley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manning Findlay, 605 Markham Street, to Morris Emer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samual Emer, 169 Palmerston Avenue, took place at Bais Yehuda Synagogue, on Sunday, May 9, at nine o'clock, with Rabbi A. Kelman officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her egg-shell white satin gown, trimmed with brocade and lace, had a lace neckline, long lace sleeves, draped bodice, and full skirt, and her beaded headdress caught a long tulle veil. She carried a cascade of Calla Lilies. Miss Nora Findlay, sister of the bride, was maid of honour, wearing an ice-blue off-the-shoulder bustle-back gown, with matching headdress, and carried a colonial nosegay. Miss Mildred Goldberg, in a bronze-colored satin gown, off-the-shoulder style. All carried colonial nosegays similar to that of the maid of honour. Marlene Goldberg was junior bridesmaid, wearing a pink taffeta off-the-shoulder gown, and pink floral headband, and carried a colonial nosegay. Joan Rosen was flower girl in a dress similar to that of the junior bridesmaid. Burton Emer was best man and ushers were: Alan Lovat, David Elie, Louis Luchtman, Saul Waldman, and Norman Litvak. The bride's mother, Mrs. Findlay, wearing a blue dinner gown, and a corsage of red roses, received with Mrs. Emer, mother of the groom, wearing a silver-grey dinner gown, and a corsage of red roses. The bride and groom left for their wedding trip to New York, the former wearing a black gabardine suit and green accessories. They will reside at 605 Markham Street. Mr. and Mrs. M. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. S. Sagar, of New Haven, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Hollander, of Staten Island, New York; Mrs. M. Leibovits and family, of Bronx, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. I. Paperman, and C. Grossman, of Montreal, Que.; and Burton and Leona Emer, of New York, were wedding guests.

IRVING BERLIN'S DAUGHTER IS ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin, of New York, have made known the engagement of their eldest daughter, Mary Ellin, to Dennis Sheedy Burden, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Townsend Burden of this city and Newport, R.I.

The engagement is of wide interest in the U.S. and abroad, not only because Miss Berlin's father is the well known song writer, but also because of the prominence otherwise of the families concerned.

The bride-elect's father is the author of more than 800 popular songs, including those for two plays, "Yip, Yip, Yaphank" and "This Is The Army", in the first and second World Wars, respectively. Proceeds (several million dollars) from both were turned over by him to the United States Army Relief.

He also wrote "The Freedom Train", in honor of the train that travelled to more than 300 cities in the United States, with priceless historical documents.

Miss Berlin's mother, the former Miss Ellin Mackay, is the author of several books, including "Land I Have Chosen," and also is actively interested in the Girl Scouts movement.

The prospective bride is a student at Barnard College, majoring in music, and also attended Bryn Mawr College. Through her mother, she is a granddaughter of the late Clarence Hungerford Mackay, who, at his death in 1938, was chairman of the board of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company, which his father, the late John W. Mackay, helped found as the Commercial Cable Company. John W. Mackay, whose career was one of the great American financial romances, was part owner in the Fifties, Sixties and Seventies of the Bonanza Mines of the famous Comstock Lode in Nevada. His wife, the late Mrs. Mackay, was a well known social leader in the U.S. and abroad, especially in London.

Also on the maternal side, Miss Berlin is a granddaughter of the late Mrs. Katherine Duer Blake, author of many short stories, and a great-granddaughter of the late William Alexander Duer, well known lawyer. Mr. Duer was a descendant of Col. William Alexander Duer, who settled in New York in the middle of the Eighteenth Century, and was the husband of Lady Catherine Alexander, daughter of the famous William Alexander (Lord Sterling).

The prospective bride also is descended from William R. Travers and Reverdy Johnson of New York.

The paternal grandfather of Miss Berlin was the late Rev. Moses Baline.

Mrs. Robert Z. Hawkins of Reno, Nev., and John W. Mackay of Roslyn, L.I., are her aunt and uncle, respectively.

Mr. Burden, who comes of equally interesting ancestry, is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Townsend Burden of New York and Newport, socially prominent in their day. The late Mrs. Burden was the former Miss Evelyn Byrd Moale of Baltimore.

The bridegroom-elect is a great-grandson of Henry Burden, who laid the foundation for the family fortune by his inventive faculties. His first invention was a machine for making horse shoes, which theretofore had been made by hand, and later one for making hook-headed spikes for railroads. At his death, he owned one of the largest machine shops and iron works in this country, at Troy, N.Y.

Through his mother, the former Miss Florence Sheedy, Mr. Burden is a grandson of the late Dennis Sheedy, of Denver, cattleman, miner, and banker. Young Mr. Burden's father at one time was an Assistant Corporation Counsel of New York.

Mrs. Robert L. Livingston of New York, the former Miss Marie Sheedy, is an aunt of the prospective bridegroom, whose brother, I. Townsend Burden Jr., married the former Frances Frick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Childs Frick and a granddaughter of the late Henry Clay Frick, one-time partner of the late Andrew Carnegie in the steel industry.

1,000 Meet To Honor Educator

Dr. Abraham Lefkowitz, principal of Samuel J. Tilden High School, a founder of the American Federation of Teachers and the New York Teachers Guild, and for more than thirty years a teacher in the city's schools, was the recipient of a tribute from 1,000 representatives of education, labor and government at a dinner in the Commodore Hotel, in New York.

From Mayor O'Dwyer, who sent a message in praise of Dr. Lefkowitz, to Dr. William Jansen, superintendent of schools, and Dr. John Dewey, speakers joined in praise of the educator. Dr. Lefkowitz received the first annual award plaque of the Empire State Federation of Teachers Unions, "for distinguished service in the cause of public education."

David I. Kaplan of the Teachers Guild announced to Dr. Lefkowitz that the ideals which he had fought for would be perpetuated. To do this, Mr. Kaplan said, the guild started a $100,000 expansion fund of which $15,000 had already been raised.

Dr. Lefkowitz in receiving the plaque from Kenneth L. Maxson, president of the Empire State Federation, told the assembly that "our ability to win indicates that in the long run battles for principle, not expediency, yield results."

He reviewed the struggle to set up the Teachers Guild as part of the American Federation of Labor after the group broke with the Teachers Union, now a CIO affiliate, over a political issue, and cited "the leftwing elements now menacingly on the march."

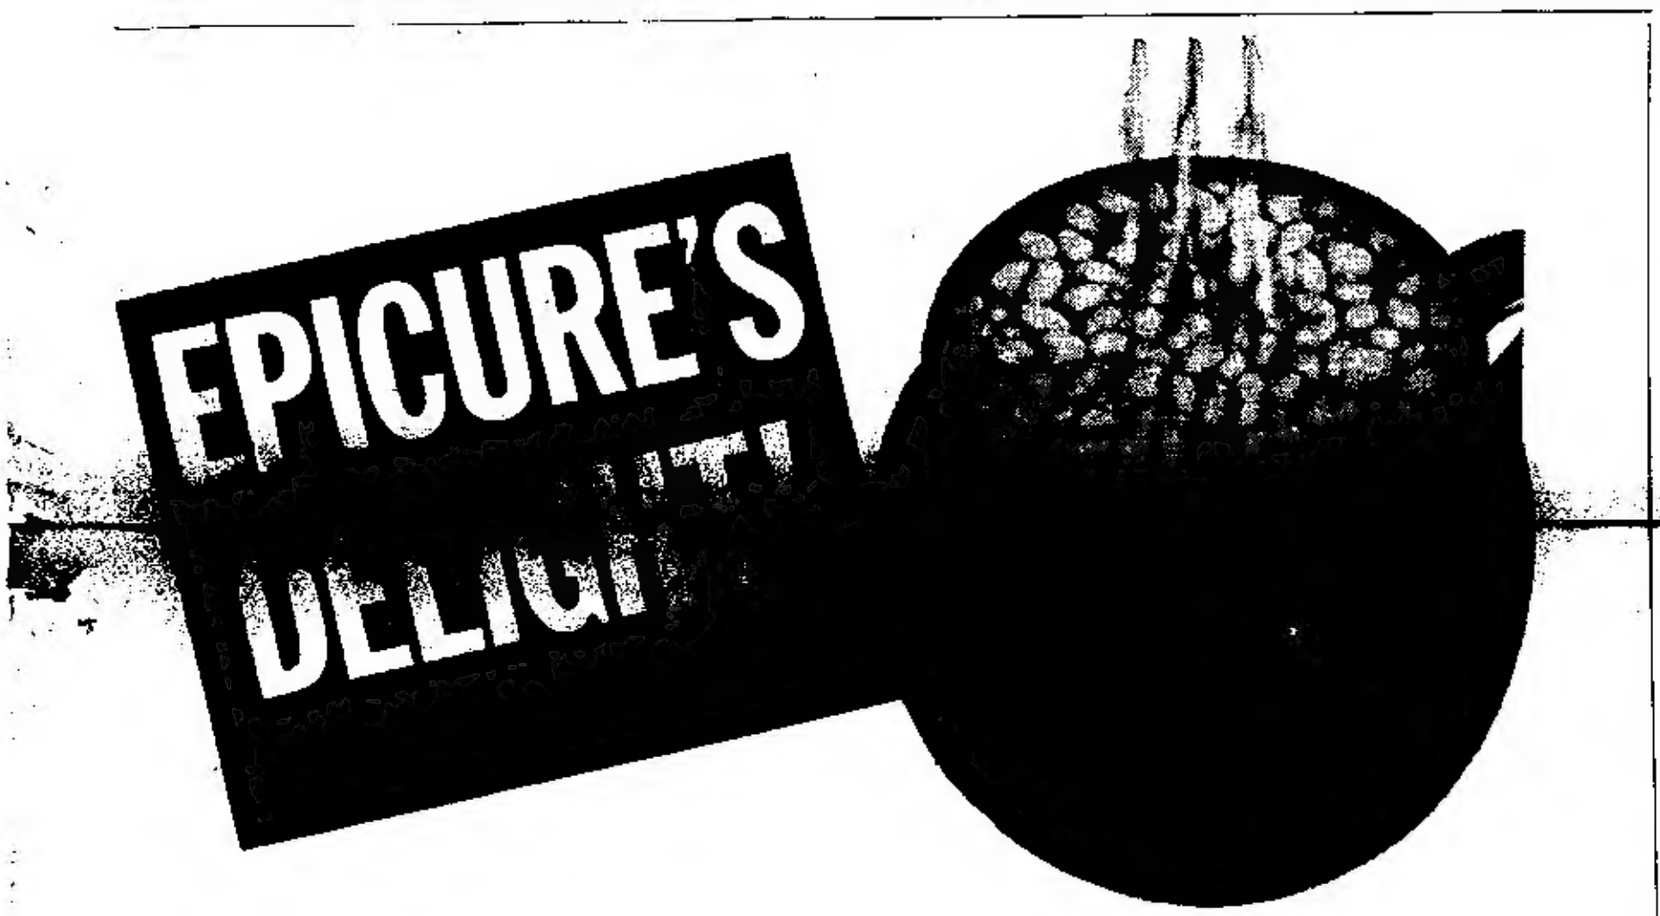
In paying tribute to the high school principal, Dr. Jansen declared that he has been identified with the interest of teachers as had few other people, and cited the long hours and energy which Dr. Lefkowitz had spent in the service of teachers and education without thought of financial gain.

STELLA ADLER IS ON DP TOUR

On the first leg of a tour that will take her through Jewish displaced persons camps in Germany and Italy and later to Jewish communities in Palestine, stage and screen director and producer Stella Adler arrived in Paris under the auspices of the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society.

Miss Adler said that after her return from the tour she would make "a first hand report to the American public and especially to the women of America in the hope of the liberation of thousands of displaced persons still remaining in camps throughout Europe."

"I am convinced that the rapidly changing political developments have eclipsed their problem, which is still heart-rending and tragic," she declared.



Ready to Heat, Eat and Enjoy

Grandma, no doubt, speaks of Heinz Vegetarian Baked Beans as a "meichel." Her enthusiastic grandchild might call them "swell." A rather free translation! But both of these epicures aptly describe the "pareve," easy-to-fix dish that wins the applause of every "mayvin." Oven-baked until golden-brown and fairly bursting with tenderness, Heinz Vegetarian Beans are drenched in a rich, savory tomato sauce. "Swell" or "meichel," they're mighty good eating!

HANDS AT WORK...

LEARNING MACHINE ASSEMBLY

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we all are more assured of job security . . . and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. But to produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. That is why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by Ontario industry. They receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour, and the Ontario Department of Education, starts the veteran on the road to skilled craftsmanship. In assembling business machines, for example, veterans must have a thorough knowledge of electricity and must learn to perform intricate work on precision machines having thousands of separate parts. These Canadian-made business machines are sold in all parts of the world, creating new wealth for Canada and Ontario. Every effort of these newly skilled veterans helps to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and contributes to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

LEST WE FORGET

By Mrs. Ernest G. Wadel, Chairman,
National Women's Division, United Jewish Appeal

A few weeks ago I stood in a tiny cell in the Theresienstadt Concentration Camp in Czechoslovakia. It was a cell large enough for four persons at the most, but during the Nazi occupation as many as 37 women were herded into the cell at one time. My guide shut the door and for 60 seconds I thought I had lived a life-time. "Here," I thought, "women who had sons even as I do, who had homes and something to live for, waited day after day for their inevitable death. And they waited because they were Jews."

This experience crystallized for me the impressions gained during a month long tour of Italy, Germany, Poland, France and Czechoslovakia which I made in behalf of the United Jewish Appeal campaign for $250,000,000. Suddenly, in the space of a minute I realized the enormity of the tragedy which had struck the European Jew. Freedom took on new meaning for me. Everywhere I travelled in Europe I realized that the 1,500,000 Jewish survivors of Hitlerism are, still in chains.

In Germany, anti-Semitism is still rife. The German has not forgotten the lessons Hitler taught, and the Jewish DP's are prisoners of fear. They are afraid to go out into the streets of Germany. In Italy scores are living in International Refugee Organization camps, many of which have locks on the gates. To us a locked gate means security. To our DP's it means insecurity. The Jewish people in Europe are prisoners of memories. The continent is haunted with the gaunt spectres of their murdered loved ones.

Our government has termed the IRO program as "austerity" operation and this is tragically correct. It is impossible for us Americans to conceive of a person being housed, fed and clothed on 45 cents a day. Yet, that is the IRO allotment for each DP. Our people under the IRO live on the very margin of human existence, and if it were not for the Joint Distribution Committee, one of the three agencies of the United Jewish Appeal, I am afraid that thousands would be dead or roaming the streets of Europe.

Everywhere I went in Europe the survivors asked me one question: "When are we going to get out of here? When are we going to leave Europe?" In Germany, where they are so far from any port of embarkation, the morale is pitifully low. In Italy, which the Jew considers an island off Palestine, the morale is much higher. These people have regained their fighting spirit. They have something to look forward to.

Many of them want to come to the United States, but that is because they have relatives in this country. The Jews of Europe for the most part would rather die fighting for their freedom in Palestine than live as beggars in Europe. No matter what is happening in the Holy Land they are determined to build their lives in the Jewish State.

Despite the misery which characterizes Jewish life in Europe, there are many bright spots in the picture. Outside Warsaw I visited three installations for children which are supported by funds given by Americans to the United Jewish Appeal. One was a children's home where fifty-five youngsters who had arrived from Russia in 1946 were sheltered. The home was spotlessly clean. All of the children attend public school. They maintain a dairy farm and sell much of their produce to a sanatorium across the street. The children were as gay and charmingly [illegible] as our own [illegible] and secure.

The sanatorium was for tubercular children, and as I entered a man and his little boy were leaving. I asked them if they were going for a Sunday stroll and the father replied, "No, I am taking him home. After eight months he is cured, thanks to Joint." He kissed my hand, and I think he meant the gesture to be one of simple gratitude for all Americans who have helped him and his little son.

In Poland and Czechoslovakia I saw Jews emerging from the shadows. Through cooperatives, training farms, schools and other aids they are learning new trades which will enable them to live self-sufficient lives in the countries to which they migrate. These working people were proud, dignified and secure in the knowledge that they are able to care for themselves and also contribute to society as a whole.

As I was coming home I reflected on all that I had seen in my five busy weeks, I realized more than ever that the Jews of Europe look to us in America as their mainstay. The destiny of the Jews of Palestine who are struggling to build and secure their homeland, the immigration and resettlement of 75,000 Jews (24,000 of them children) in Palestine; the continued relief and rehabilitation of almost a million survivors in Europe, and the adjustment of 25,000 newcomers to our own shores hinges upon the generosity of the American Jewish community in 1948.

Before I went to Europe, I thought $250,000,000 was a vast sum. Now, I wonder how the United Palestine Appeal, Joint Distribution Committee and United Service for New Americans can accomplish their programs with such a small amount of money.

U.S. Senate Doubles DP Quota

By a vote of 40 to 33 the U.S. Senate approved a modification of its pending bill to raise to 200,000 the number of displaced persons to be admitted into the United States in the next two years.

The change, permitting the entry of 100,000 of the European homeless in each of the next two years, represented a doubling of the ceiling recommended by the Senate Judiciary Committee. The pending Wiley-Revercomb bill had proposed a limit of 50,000 a year for two years with no carry-over if the first year's total was not filled.

The increased figure brought the total in the Senate bill in line with the 200,000 admissions authorized by the Fellows bill that had been approved by the House Judiciary Committee.

The vote represented the first test of the strength of the opposing factions on the DP question. It indicated that there was a favorable atmosphere for a number of other amendments, principally by the same sponsors, to delete from the pending measure a number of restrictive qualifications and conditions applying to countries of origin, occupational eligibility and related requirements.

The Lutheran World Federation protested against the seizure of Protestant Christian mission properties by Haganah forces in Palestine, it was announced in New York by the National Lutheran Council. Dr. Paul C. Empie, executive director of the Council, said that the Syrian Orphanage in Jerusalem had been taken over by the Jewish forces a few days after a protest against its "threatened seizure" was sent to Lieut. Gen. Sir Alan G. Cunningham, British High Commissioner. Charging that the Syrian Orphanage was now being used as a Haganah training center, Dr. Empie said that representations had also been made to the State Department and to President Truman. Spokesmen for the Jewish Agency for Palestine expressed surprise at the announcement and declared that amicable negotiations had been going on to turn over the property to the Lutheran group.

FARAWAY LANDS CONTRIBUTE TO Linoleum's

RESILIENCE

CORK . . . Light, tough, impermeable to water, cork—from Portugal—is one of four major elements used in the making of linoleum. These materials, each the best of its kind, are brought from various parts of the world, to be fashioned into floor coverings offering the highest measure of good appearance, resilience, durability and resistance to moisture.

Linoleum IS TESTED

Each and every ingredient used in the making of linoleum is selected with scrupulous care, subjected to the most rigid tests under the supervision of experts. The unvarying quality thus assured measures up to exacting "Navy" standards. It has won for Dominion Battleship Linoleum, Marboleum and Marboleum Tile the distinction of being "Canada's finest flooring".

WHEN you tread on a floor of linoleum you'll note the springy "life", the resiliency that cushions every step. Cork puts that foot-comforting feel into your linoleum. Cork, ground and skilfully blended with linseed oil, kauri gum and other materials, results in a floor covering of matchless resiliency, smoothness and beauty.

For homes, offices, hotels, public buildings—wherever good looking, resilient, long-wearing floors are needed—linoleum is the popular choice. In Dominion Battleship Linoleum, Marboleum and Marboleum Tile you have floors of real charm—floors that are colourful, easy to clean, long-lasting and economical.

Ask your architect or your local dealer to show you the variety of colours and patterns available.

CARAMEL CURLS

two cups sifted flour
one-half teaspoon salt four teaspoons baking powder four tablespoons shortening one egg
one-half cup milk
one-half cup brown sugar
one-half cup chopped nuts
raisins

Cream the shortening and sugar together. Add the egg, slightly beaten. Sift the flour, salt, and baking powder together, and add, together with the milk. Mix thoroughly, and roll out dough one-quarter-inch thick. Spread over top with slightly melted butter. Sprinkle with raisins, nuts, and a little brown sugar. Roll as for jelly roll, and cut in one-inch pieces. Stand on end in a well-greased muffin pan. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for about thirty minutes. This recipe makes eighteen.

Tons Of U.S. Sand Go To Tel Aviv Yearly

The operators of a small industry at Cheshire, Mass., in the heart of the Berkshires annually receive an order which has mystified them for many years. The order, received each spring by the Berkshire Glass Sand Company, is for twenty tons of sand to be sent to Tel Aviv, Palestine, which is on the edge of the [illegible] and is built on sand. While the [illegible] may be delayed, but officers of the Berkshire firm are confident it will arrive, for it came regularly even through the war years, although twice shipping difficulties made it impossible to fill it.

It is a costly trip for the sand, halfway around the world, and it must be sacked in triple burlap bags to make the journey intact. Company officials are not sure what it is used for, but dentists say it might be processed into artificial teeth and porcelain fillings. Fine silicate also is used to sandblast rough surfaces of dental castings fresh from the furnace.

While a crowd of thousands cheered, a flag of Israel was raised in Reyburn Plaza, opposite City Hall, in Philadelphia, Pa. A second flag was presented to Mayor Bernard Samuel, who said he would turn it over to the Bureau of City Property to be placed in Independence Hall with the flags of other nations. The ceremonies were sponsored by the Philadelphia Zionist Committee, Hadassah, Labor Zionists and Mizrachi. William H. Sylk, national treasurer of the Zionist Organization of America, was chairman.

Doctors Kept Morale High In Old City

Dr. Abraham Laufer of Hadassah, who was in charge of Jewish hospital facilities in the Old City for the last five weeks, told a press conference in Jerusalem that the medical situation had not been a factor in the decision to surrender.

"On the contrary, the medical work was a strong factor in keeping [illegible] of Trans-Jordan as prisoners of war. Dr. Ellis was selected, he said, because he was the youngest of the four doctors in the Old City and because he had no children. Dr. Ellis left without having known that his wife, a nurse, had been killed in the shelling of the Hadassah Hospital on Prophets Street.

Fifty slightly wounded cases were sent to Amman after agreement on their status had been reached by one Jewish, one Arab and one Red Cross doctor. One hundred and nineteen more seriously wounded were turned over to the Jews for evacuation from Jerusalem hospitals.

sion that this was a matter of saving lives of people who became suddenly persecuted. He praised Britain for having admitted more than 50,000 Nazi victims; the United States for housing non-quota refugees at Fort Ontario; France for granting asylum to more than 100,000 Jews, and the Soviet Union for saving an equal number by evacuating Polish Jews before the Nazi blitzkrieg. Moslem countries, the Jewish representative said, accorded this right to even their bitterest foes on request.

The commission members agreed on the wording for the article promising the right of asylum to all persons. By a vote of 9 to 4, the commission rejected a Soviet amendment that would have expanded considerably the two-line article proposed by China, which said simply that "everyone has the right to seek and be granted temporary asylum."

A Mask For Privilege

A most provocative book is "A Mask For Privilege" by Carey McWilliams. It deals with the problem of anti-Semitism and the danger this social disease constitutes to democracy.

The author is a graduate of the University of California where he pursued the study of law. He served at one time as Commissioner of Immigration and Housing in California. In this position Mr. McWilliams had a unique opportunity to make a study of the minority groups in California, which State constitutes one of the finest laboratories in the study of human relationships. Mr. McWilliams is well known for his work, "Brothers Under The Skin," in which he calls upon the Federal government to prevent race discrimination against such minority groups as the Chinese, the Mexican, the Japanese, the Negroes and the Philippinos.

In his latest book, "A Mask For Privilege," the author contends that anti-Semitism is basically a mask for economic and class privileges. He asserts that for the past seventy years, anti-Semitism has been a growing business in the good old U.S.A. Historically, he traces the rise of anti-Semitism with the exclusion of Mr. Joseph Seligman, prominent New York Jewish banker, from the Grand Union Hotel at Saratoga Springs, New York. He considers this exclusion act as one of the first major manifestations of social discrimination in the United States and one which has given rise to similar acts in that particular period all over the country.

This does not mean to say that for the one hundred years prior to 1877, American democracy always expressed itself in perfect equality. Far from it. Here and there incidents of anti-Jewishness have cropped up, but these made no impression on the general life of America. The exclusion of Joseph Seligman became a major act of discrimination and one which aroused the best minds of the Christian and Jewish community. None other than the great preacher, Henry Ward Beecher, denounced it publicly and considered it a shameful act, but called upon the [illegible] of America to look upon it as a mere "rabbit front."

[illegible] what is known as the Second American [illegible], the rise of big business. The post-civil war days gave birth to industrial tycoons who, struggling against each other in the market place of business, felt that they must have some semblance of unity by opposing something. Also, with the rise of big business and heavy industry, the workers were being regimented. In order to create a diversion from the injustices against the toiling masses in industry, anti-Semitism proved a selling article. In particular, the rise of German Jews in American industry was not a welcomed factor by the white Anglo-Saxon snobs, while those of the upper strata, Protestants, in particular were anti-foreigners generally. The Jew, being the minority of minorities, became the class target.

Mr. McWilliams rightly points out that social discrimination in any form should not be taken lightly even as the exclusion of Mr. Seligman should never have been taken lightly. For social discriminatory acts lay the foundations for economic prejudice and political anti-Semitism.

What are the causes which made anti-Semitism take root in the U.S.A. despite its noble traditions of freedom and equality for all, no matter of what race or creed? The author claims that the "myth-makers" such as Madison Grant, Burton Hendricks, and Lothrop Stoddard, were in the main responsible, through their pseudo-scientific writings, for creating the climate of discrimination. These propounded the false theories of race purity and advocated the saving of the pure white Protestant community for America. He also attributes the fact that the native American stock was gradually being displaced by immigrants from Southern and Eastern Europe. Also the political scientists who taught at the universities were influenced in their instruction by their German academic training to maintain that American democracy does not find its origin in the revolution of 1776 but rather in the huts of Teutonic tribal life.

as the Boston Pops Orchestra under Arthur Fiedler enjoys playing, "To Patricia Ann" was fun and laughter. It was written in three movements: "Patricia Ann is asleep; Patricia Ann awakens, cries, shakes rattle, and Patricia Ann happily falls asleep."

One of the youngest composers, Coleridge-Taylor Perkinson, 15, wrote a choral piece, "And Behold," in which he asked "What good things shall I do that I may have eternal life?" He intends to compose both choral and orchestra music.

longer. We shall not co-operate with the execution of this wicked scheme. The responsibility for the continuance of our illegal imprisonment and the consequences of our struggle against it rest squarely upon the members of the British authorities. cess of any movement to counteract the heritage of nazism," he said, "is vigorous efforts for the re-education of Germany by the occupation authorities, supported by the full weight of American opinion."

Mr. Shuster said the Lessing Societies were organized with the assistance of the American Jewish Committee, which maintains offices on the Continent to check racism and to help in the reconstruction of European Jewish communities. The Lessing Societies, according to Mr. Shuster, were named for the author of "Nathan the Wise." Among those who are supporting the work of the Lessing Societies and are pro-democratic Germans, Mr. Shuster said, are Gottlob Binder, Minister of Liberation of the State of Hesse, who is chairman of the association in that state, and Dr. Walter Kolb, Lord Mayor of Frankfort.

Mr. Shuster said many leaders of democratic tendencies in Germany have appealed for help in re-educating themselves and the German population to democratic living.

"Even the pro-democratic Germans are living in such an intellectual and moral desert that without assistance from outside sources they are unable to develop re-education programs," he said.

task of presenting the Jewish case for Palestine to the United Nations.

Born in Johannesburg, South Africa, in 1903, Mr. Lourie was graduated from the University of Capetown, and studied law at Cambridge University in England and at Harvard Law School. He practiced law in South Africa until 1932. Aubrey Eban, Israeli agent at U.N., is also from Capetown.

Former president of the University Zionist Society at Cambridge University, Mr. Lourie, a member of a well-known Zionist family, first visited Palestine in 1927. In 1933 he gave up the law and became political secretary of the Jewish Agency for Palestine in London, where he was closely associated with Dr. Chaim Weizmann, first president of the new Jewish state.

He was secretary of the Jewish delegation at the Round Table Conference on Palestine in London during March, 1939. He also acted on behalf of the Agency as liaison with the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry in Jerusalem in 1945.

Mr. Lourie, who is married to the former Miss Jeanette Leibel, executive secretary of Hadassah, women's Zionist organization, lives at 299 Riverside Drive. He is the father of two children.

forms per se, but against the entire concepts of Reform movements which expressed judgment on the future of Judaism by certain contemporary trends which are never lasting nor of any great consequence," he said. Dr. Belkin went on to say that a central synagogue is indispensable for the preservation of Orthodox ideals.

Dr. Belkin elaborated on this subject during an interview with the New York Herald Tribune in his office. He said the purpose of the central synagogue is "to consolidate the Orthodox Jewish community in America and set policies and standards which shall be binding on the laity and the rabbinate." He said sufficient funds have been advanced to set the project in motion, and that temporary headquarters have been assigned to it in the university's new annex, now nearing completion.
